Long-acting reversible contraception device inventory and separate inpatient reimbursement

UniCare Health Plan of West Virginia, Inc. members will soon have the benefit of immediate postpartum placement of long-acting reversible contraception (LARC) (intrauterine devices [IUDs] and etonogestrel implants) during their inpatient delivery admission.

Beginning on October 1, 2015, payment for LARC devices and professional insertion fees will be paid separately from the inpatient admission. Facilities and providers will receive the same reimbursement as if the device were implanted on an outpatient basis.

To help ensure the devices are accessible to physicians and immediately available to patients who request this procedure, hospitals are encouraged to stock obstetrical units with the LARC devices listed below:
